3.  Clark McFadden, General Counsel, Senate Armed Services Committee, called and outlined the provisions of ~~Senator Proxmire's proposed amendments to the Procurement Authorization bill.~~ McFadden said the bill was now going to go to the floor on Monday rather than Thursday as earlier scheduled. He said he had just come from a session with Chairman Stennis on the amendments and that Stennis was of the mind to be as accomodating to Proxmire as possible believing in the long run this would be most helpful to him and the Agency. McFadden said he needed positions on the amendments for Stennis the first thing Monday morning and I said I would meet with McFadden tomorrow in the Senate Armed Services Committee room for a preliminary of our position and we would have the final papers in his hands Monday morning.
